

Not so polite response

Monash University Gippsland and Ballarat University are joining forces to become a regional university. One name being considered is Federation University. Imagine politely asking students where they are studying and they reply "FU".

Sarah Russell, Northcote